

An Ecology of Mind

September 12, 2011

Kaufmann Theater, first floor

Ticket Info

$12; $6 students (with ID)

An Ecology of Mind is an intimate and personal portrait of Gregory Bateson, celebrated anthropologist, philosopher, author, naturalist, and filmmaker. Directed by his daughter Nora Bateson, who will lead a discussion after the screening, this film includes footage from Bateson's own films shot in the 1930s in Bali with and in New Guinea along with photographs, filmed lectures, and interviews. Through contemporary interviews, and his words, Bateson reveals her father's practical approaches to the enormous challenges confronting the human race and the natural world.

Margaret Mead

<http://www.amnh.org/calendar/event/An-Ecology-of-Mind/>